„His absolute stage presence and his crisp-lively sound of his interpretations set new quality standards.” - WDR

Vienna's famous "Musikverein", the „Gewandhaus" in Leipzig or the "Konzerthaus" in Berlin – Philipp Scheucher performs regularly in the most prestigious concert halls. Especially the natural charisma and the love for music delights the Austrian young rising pianist's audiences all over the world. As the first prize winner of the International Music Prize in Cologne, the German Broadcasting Corporation "WDR" describes him as follows: "His absolute stage presence and his crisp-lively sound of his interpretations set new quality standards."

Philipp Scheucher was born in Austria's second-largest city "Graz" in 1993. His extraordinary musical talent brought him - already at the age of ten – to Maria Zgubic at the University of Music and Performing Arts, where his career as a pianist started to develop. With the guidance of Markus Schirmer, he found his own personality and artistry on the piano, which gave him the rare ability to vitalize classical music and bring it to the 21st century. His repertoire therefore includes a wide range covering the standard repertoire of today's classical pianists. Lately, his affinity for contemporary music is more and more growing, which is confirmed by many of his collaborations with living composers: he was involved in the premiere of Marc-André Hamelin's piano solo work "L'homme armé" or he collaborated with Austrian composer M.G. Kendlinger to premiere his piano concerto "Larissa".

His highly musical flexibility, technical abilities and interaction with an audience makes Philipp Scheucher count among the most promising pianists of the next generation of artists.
